SPECIAL ISSUE ON A MULTIMODAL APPROACH TO POSTOPERATIVE PAIN MANAGEMENT

Editorial: Physician Responsibility and Accountability: Importance of the Diagnosis and Plan ................................................................. 203
L. Andrew Koman, MD

PRIMARY ARTICLES

Best Practices for Periarticular Infiltration With Liposomal Bupivacaine for the Management of Pain After Shoulder Surgery: Consensus Recommendation ................................................................. 204
Girish P. Joshi, MBBS, MD, FFARCSI; Richard J. Hawkins, MD; Mark A. Frankle, MD; Jeffrey S. Abrams, MD

Comparison of Two Multimodal Pain Regimens Used for Postoperative Pain Control in Total Joint Arthroplasty Patients ....................................................... 209
Alexander H. Jinnah, MD; Beth P. Smith, PhD; Brett C. Perricelli, MD

Quantifying the Risk of Analgesic-Related Adverse Events After Knee Arthroscopy ......................................................... 215
Jeff Gonzales, MD, MA; Scott T. Lovald, PhD; Edmund C. Lau, MS; Kevin L. Ong, PhD

Does Local Soft Tissue Infiltration With a Liposomal Bupivacaine Cocktail Have a Synergistic Effect When Combined With Single-Shot Adductor Canal Peripheral Nerve Block in Knee Arthroplasty? ............................................. 222
Zachary C. Lum, DO; Adolph V. Lombardi, Jr., MD, FACS; Jason Hurst, MD; Michael Morris, MD; Keith Berend, MD

Narcotic Use: A Modifiable Risk Factor for Hip and Knee Arthroplasty ................................................................. 227
Robert M. O’Neal, BS; Kipp A. Cryer, MD; Paul K. Edwards, MD; C. Lowry Barnes, MD; Simon C. Mears, MD, PhD